

WHOLE COUNTRY NOW GOES DRY

Months from the date of its submission to the States. It was ratified more quickly than any other Constitutional amendment with exception of the thirteenth amendment—the anti-slavery amendment—which was submitted to the States February 1, 1865, and ratified December 18, 1865.

Under the amendment the country goes dry one year from today. The next task will be the framing of a code of laws for carrying out the intent of the amendment and securing the co-operation of the States in enforcing supplemental codes.

The announcement of Nebraska's ratification of the amendment reached the Capitol just before noon, and crowds of their supporters gathered around Senator Sheppard and Congressman Randall to congratulate them when the Senate and House sessions opened. Nebraska was referred to on every hand as "the perfect thirty-six."

DRYS TO CENTER EFFORTS ON LEGISLATION FOR ENFORCING AMENDMENT

Because of the fact the prohibition amendment to the Constitution has practically attained the goal of ratification, dry members of Congress will now devote their attention to law enforcement legislation.

Prominent drys, such as Congressman Randall of California, Senator Sheppard of Texas, and others, are prepared to press for legislation for the enforcement of the dry amendment.

Efforts will be made to accomplish it before the short session ends, but whether this can be done is doubtful.

While the Constitutional amendment goes into effect a year after ratification, the dry forces desire law enforcement statutes before then. They want to apply them to the wartime prohibition act which goes into effect July 1.

Dry leaders in Congress predict that prohibition will prohibit, but

The Amendment

Here is the prohibition amendment to the Constitution of the United States:

"Section 1. After one year from the ratification of this article the manufacture, sale or transportation of intoxicating liquors within, or the exportation thereof from the United States and all territories subject to the jurisdiction hereof for beverage purposes is hereby prohibited.

"Section 2. The Congress and the several States shall have concurrent power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

"Section 3. This article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the Constitution by the legislatures of the several States, as provided in the Constitution, within seven years from the date of the submission hereof to the States by the Congress."

The resolution was passed by the Senate, 65 to 20, on August 1, 1917, and by the House, 282 to 128, on December 17, 1917. Mississippi was the first State to ratify the amendment, its legislature acting on January 3, 1919.

they expect that drastic law enforcement legislation and administration will be required. On the Bureau of Internal Revenue will probably be put the burden of enforcing the dry amendment.

For years that bureau has been warring on moonshine whiskey. Congressman Randall of California, one of the leading drys, declares there is danger in the cheap and unregulated motion picture show. Now that liquor is about to go and the saloon to be shut up, he expects demand for new places of amusement. He says if the country doesn't watch out, the unbridled motion picture show will become a worse evil than the saloon.

To that end, he has just introduced a bill for the regulation by a Federal board of the motion picture business.

A sentence of dismissal from the army and imprisonment for two years imposed upon Capt. Samuel H. Hodgson, medical corps, has been commuted by President Wilson to a reprimand.

Hodgson was charged with violation of the ninety-sixth article of war, and it was claimed he made statements favoring the cause of Germany while he was stationed at Camp Las Casas, Porto Rico.

He was found guilty on four specifications and not guilty on two others.

Marshal Foch met the German parliamentarians on Wednesday afternoon to begin negotiating a prolongation of the armistice.

COPENHAGEN, Jan. 16.—Troops are being kept by the German government in Silesia to block the proposed Polish coup to prevent the national assembly elections, Berlin reported today. The agrarian party in Prussia, the BERNE, Jan. 16.—Chancellor Ebert has ordered the arrest of Carl Liebknecht and Robert Emil Eichhorn, who led the Spartacans in the recent street fighting in Berlin. Both are missing.
